   Mobile handsets manufacturing company based in south Korea was planning for expansion to the neighboring countries. Successfully they struck deal with a state government in India, which was throwing red carpet for foreign investors. With assurance of cooperation and uninterrupted power supply, the company started operating its prestigious unit with workers hired in contract basis from the locality. This recruitment was strategy to make the localities happy, as most of them were grumbling their decisions in selling their agricultural lands to this company. They didn’t imagine that lands would be converted into luxurious state-of-art buildings showcasing the power of money and rich. They started agitating that they have been cheated with lower prices for their lands. Hence, the company recruited youngsters from those houses of land sellers, gave them uniforms, pick up and drop cabs, lunch and other perks to keep them quiet. The strategy was proven to be a success story for three years. But, after three years, there erupted a problem from the contractual workers, who are by this time experienced and skilled in their work, demanding for their regularization of job. This is night mare for the company because, being MNC the
