A Four day E-Workshop

DEVELOPING COMMUNICATION SKILLS: CHALLENGES AND STRATEGIES
22, 23, 29 & 30 April, 2022
Organised by
The Directorate of Distance Education & Department of English

Theme of the Workshop

The relevance of the English language in today's world cannot be stressed enough. At the same time, the ability to use English in a proficient manner is a grey area as far as several non-native users of this language are concerned. As learners and teachers alike focus on the academic curriculum, the scope for developing communication skills often takes a back seat in the classroom. Learners realise the consequence of this very late as they step into the workplace. The gap between the importance of English and the ability of learners to use this language effectively is quite wide.

The E-Workshop "Developing Communication Skills: Challenges and Strategies" is an attempt at bridging that gap, in however little a manner as possible. Through talks by eminent resource persons, this workshop aims at providing strategies and suggestions, which if applied by learners in a sustained manner, can go a long way in enabling them to communicate in English in an efficient manner. The workshop would focus on different areas related to communication skills like group discussions, presentation skills, soft skills, etc. in addition to the four basic language skills-listening, speaking, reading and writing.

The department had completed two Major Research Projects one from the UGC and another from ICSSR.

An Overview of the Seminar

Indian ethos hails the role of Women and Motherhood in high regard, but it does not reflect in daily life. The patriarchal society tries hard to debunk the foundation of a free society and it does not provide equality to women. Women in decision-making roles have been embroiled in controversy for the mere notion that they are the weaker sex and cannot handle industrial problems effectively. The world has witnessed tremendous changes over the Century, from seeing women as homemakers to nation builders, and the industrial revolution also has redefined the role of women from mommy track to muster roll. Over the years, women have capitalized on the opportunities available to them to raise their pedestal and adorn the top echelon in fields of science, academia, industry, economics, politics, and society.

According to the Companies Act of 2013, appointing at least one independent women director is mandatory for India's top 1000 companies listed in Indian stock markets. Subsequently, Indian corporate started appointing women in the boards from a mere 6% in 2014 to 17.6 % in 2022. Though the presence of women in boardrooms is increasing, their representation is not satisfactory as it is only 1 % increase over the last three years. It implies that the Indian corporates have not attained gender parity yet. Therefore, the seminar aims to assess India's current position in achieving the United Nation Women's strategic plan report 2022-25 and the United Nations Organization's fifth Sustainable Development Goal (SDG) of gender equality.

Papers, both empirical and meta research based, are invited from the academicians, researcher scholars, policymakers, executives and students on the following themes:

- ◆ Social Inclusion in The Corporate: The Way Forward
- ◆ Women in Corporate: A Shift from Mommy Track
- ◆ Gender Discrimination: Corporate Cases
- ◆ Shift From Micro-Entrepreneurship to Corporate Level
- ◆ Role Of Mass Media in Women Empowerment
- ◆ Women in Corporate: An International Perspective
- ◆ Women in the Boardroom: Mirage or Fruition
- ◆ Women in Leadership Positions: The Stressors and Coping Strategies
- ◆ Implications of Familial and Social Restrictions on Women Executives
- ◆ Work-Life Balance: Work-Life Integration: Work-Life -Harmonization

on

DEVELOPING COMMUNICATION SKILLS: CHALLENGES AND STRATEGIES

22, 23, 29 & 30 April, 2022

Organised by

Theme of the Workshop

The relevance of the English language in today's world cannot be stressed enough. At the same time, the ability to use English in a proficient manner is a grey area as far as several non-native users of this language are concerned. As learners and teachers alike focus on the academic curriculum, the scope for developing communication skills often takes a back seat in the classroom. Learners realise the consequence of this very late as they step into the workplace. The gap between the importance of English and the ability of learners to use this language effectively is quite wide.

The E-Workshop "Developing Communication Skills: Challenges and Strategies" is an attempt at bridging that gap, in however little a manner as possible. Through talks by eminent resource persons, this workshop aims at providing strategies and suggestions, which if applied by learners in a sustained manner, can go a long way in enabling them to communicate in English in an efficient manner. The workshop would focus on different areas related to communication skills like group discussions, presentation skills, soft skills, etc. in addition to the four basic language skills-listening, speaking, reading and writing.
