Eiffel Scholarship Program of Excellence 2021

The Eiffel Scholarship Program, established by the French Ministry for Europe and Foreign Affairs, is designed for international students pursuing study programmes in four major fields :

Law studies, Economics and Management, Engineering Sciences and Political Sciences.

The Scholarship Program funds Master's courses (for 12 to 36 months) and offers funding for PhD students to spend 12 months in France through joint supervision or a joint direction of thesis (preferably the 2nd year of the PhD).

The scholarship includes the following benefits:

- Monthly allowance of €1,181 (for master's programme) and €1,400 (for PhD level studies)
- International return trip, national and local transport, health insurance, and cultural activities
- an additional housing allowance, under certain conditions

Please note: The French university/institution submits the scholarship applications on behalf of the interested candidates. Applications submitted directly by students are not considered.

The last date for applications online on their website is Friday, 08th January 2021.

For more information and details, please refer to <https://www.inde.campusfrance.org/eiffel-scholarship-program-of-excellence>.

Faculty members may also explore and assist interested PG students of the respective departments to apply for this opportunity. As there is a feature for joint supervision or joint direction of thesis, please see how this may benefit your PhD scholars through your network with professional colleagues from France.
