Lt. Governor and Pondicherry University Rector Tamilisai Soundararajan has underscored the importance of upgrading skills in tune with the changing technology.

She was speaking at the launch of Synergistic Training Programme Utilising the Scientific and Technological Infrastructure, held in collaboration with Sivaji University, Maharashtra, under the auspices of the Central Instrumentation Facility at Pondicherry University. It was funded by the Department of Science and Technology. She said that only constant updating of knowledge and skills would help to make use of emerging opportunities in instrumentation and other fields.

'Modernise facility'

Vice-Chancellor Gurmeet Singh, in his presidential address, said efforts would be made to further modernise the instrumentation facility. C. Sivasankar, Centre Head, Central Instrumentation Facility, Pondicherry University; R. G. Sonkawade, of Shivaji University; and Bala Manimaran, Head, Department of Chemistry, took part.
