AIM AND SCOPE

Staff and Educational Development International, a refereed international quarterly, published in January, May and September each year, aims at providing a forum for debate, discussion and exchange of ideas, practices, and research on staff development, and innovations and change in education and training.

It is a refereed international journal brought out by Network for Staff and Educational Development (Net/SED), India. The areas covered in the journal include: educational development; human resource development; corporate training; open learning and distance education; flexible, co-operative, experiential, multichannel and blended learning; multimedia education and training; continuing and lifelong education; educational policy and practice; education and industry interface; accreditation, quality assurance, and quality management; management of innovation and change; research and development; and networking and collaboration.

The Network for Staff and Educational Development (NetSED), which sponsors the journal, is a voluntary non-profit making international forum committed to improve teaching, learning and training at all levels, and the quality of processes and products associated with these. It provides a forum for networking institutions, associations, federations, groups and individuals and their activities on staff training/development, and educational development, and thereby facilitates learning from each other. For these activities, NetSED, as a national representative, is a member of the International Consortium for Educational Development, UK. NetSED has a variety of interest areas and operations, including the improvement of the quality of teaching and learning within higher education and the quality of human resource development in education and industry.

ABSTRACTING/INDEXING

SEDI is being abstracted and/or indexed in Educational Technology Abstracts (UK), Current Index to Journals in Education (Syracuse University, USA,) Ulrich's Periodicals, EBOSCO, Google Scholar.

Notes for Contributors

The editors invite original, scholarly articles and research papers within the aim and scope of the journal. Articles, etc. that have not been published previously, have not been submitted elsewhere, and that are not under review for another publication in any medium (e.g. printed journal, conference proceeding, electronic or optical medium) should be submitted to Staff and Educational Development International (SEDI) and be addressed to : Professor Santosh Panda, STRIDE IGNOU, NEW DELHI-110068, INDIA. (Email: spanda.ignou@gmail.com) It will be assumed that submission of an article to this journal implies that all the foregoing conditions are applicable.

Peer Review. All contributions submitted are subjected to peer review. To allow anonymous refereeing, please submit author(s) identification, affiliation, etc., in a separate sheet (not in the main text of the article).

Papers submitted should be within 4000 to 8000 words, neatly typed on one side of A4 size paper with double spacing and a wide margin to the left. Paper submitted on electronic version should be PC compatible Word 7.0 document format to be sent as email attachment.

Organisation. The general organisation of scholarly papers should be as follows : the background and purpose of the study should be stated first; then the details of methods, materials, tools, procedures and/or equipments used; followed by findings, discussion, and conclusion. Appendices may be used to amplify details where appropriate.

Tables and Figures should be typed in separate sheets and their position in the text should be indicated clearly. Please supply camera ready copy of all figures, as these shall not normally be redrawn.

Footnotes to the text should be avoided, but where used, should be numbered consecutively and presented as endnotes.

Citations of other works should be limited to those strictly necessary for arguments. Short quotations should be included in the text within inverted commas (" ") and quotation of more than 30 words should be placed in a separate paragraph indented from the main body of the text. However, all quotations should be accompanied by precise references, in author-date style (e.g. Evans and Nation, 1996 : 169-175). Copyrights of others' works in the text, wherever applicable, shall be obtained by the authors.

References should be indicated in the text by giving the name of the author(s), with the year of publication in parentheses. If more than one paper by the same author(s) from the same year are cited, a, b, c, etc. should be put after the year of publication. All references should be alphabetically listed at the end of the paper in the following standard format.
