ABOUT THE SYMPOSIUM

TRAICFH-2026 is a multidisciplinary symposium focused on emerging applications of Artificial Intelligence, Bioinformatics, Computational Biology, Precision Medicine, Drug Discovery, and Biomedical Data Science in healthcare. The symposium aims to bring together researchers, academicians, clinicians, and technology experts to share innovative ideas, recent discoveries, and computational approaches for understanding diseases, discovering biomarkers, developing therapeutics, and advancing personalized healthcare. TRAICFH-2026 will provide a platform for knowledge exchange, interdisciplinary collaboration, and translating computational research into meaningful biomedical and clinical applications.
